Lonsdale is a Soviet arrested by the British 1-7-61 and convicted of espionage. He received a sentence of 25 years. Also convicted were Morris and Lona Cohen, US citizens, and two British nationals.

Through our investigation we identified Lonsdale as Conon Molody, born in Moscow in 1922. He lived in California from 1933 to 1938 with an aunt, Tatiana Piankova. We also learned he entered the U.S. in 1933 as the son of Piankova who is a naturalized U.S. citizen.

Lonsdale is the Soviet arrested 1/7/61 by the British and charged with espionage. Upon conviction, he was sentenced to 25 years in prison. Also convicted were Morris and Lona Cohen, U. S. citizens, and two British subjects.

The Bureau through investigation identified Lonsdale as Molody. Lonsdale stated on an application at the University of London that he attended the A to Z School in San Francisco. We located an A to Zed School which had existed in Berkeley, California, during the 1930's. Through interviewing the former principal it was determined the only Russian attending that School was Conon Molody. Investigation in San Francisco identified Molody as being Gordon Lonsdale. It also showed he had lived with an aunt, Tatiana Piankova, in San Francisco from 1933 to 1938, at which time he returned to Russia. We also determined he entered the U. S. as the son rather than the nephew of Piankova who is a naturalized American citizen.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
November 24, 1961

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy today announced that an intensive investigation by the FBI has established the true identity of Gordon Arnold Lonsdale, arrested in England last January by British authorities for espionage and now serving a 25-year prison sentence there.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover stated that Lonsdale in reality is a Moscow-born, 38-year old, Russian national named Conon Molody. FBI investigation determined that Molody came to the United States in 1933 posing as his aunt's 11-year-old son. He resided with her in Berkeley, California, until around 1938 when he returned to Russia. While in the United States, Molody attended a Berkeley, private school. After his return to Russia, he is believed to have served in the Red Army prior to his assignment as a Soviet espionage agent.

Mr. Hoover said that FBI investigation has established that Molody came to Canada in 1954 where he obtained a passport and birth certificate in the name of Gordon Arnold Lonsdale. He is known to have left Canada in late February, 1955, and to have sailed from New York in early March of that year bound for England. This was the only time Molody was in the United States under either of these identities after his 1938 return to Russia.

Molody, as Lonsdale, was arrested in January, 1961, by the British along with Morris and Lona Cohen, American citizens, and two British nationals. All were charged with espionage violations and, following their trial, were convicted and sentenced to British prisons. On March 22, 1961, Molody received a 25-year jail sentence. Since that date a widespread FBI investigation resulted in the positive identification of Lonsdale as Conon Molody.

Ace Red Spy Once Lived Here

(Copyright, 1961, by the San Francisco News-Call Bulletin)

The spy-master of an espionage ring in England, Gordon Arnold Lonsdale, has been positively identified as a Russian citizen and former Bay Area resident, the News-Call Bulletin learned today.

This is the first positive identification of Lonsdale.

His local connections had not been previously known or even hinted at.

He lived in Berkeley from 1933 to 1938 and attended the now-defunct A-to-Zed School there, the News-Call Bulletin learned.

Lonsdale was sentenced to 25 years imprisonment by the British government on March 22. He was convicted of espionage.

Four companions—two Americans and two British civil servants—were given sentences of 20 and 15 years.

The five were arrested Jan. 7. Their trial, which began a month later, was heralded as the most sensational in Britain in years.

The English government said during the trial that Lonsdale was a member of the Soviet intelligence.

LONSDALE identified himself as a Canadian businessman.

But the News-Call Bulletin has learned that the Federal Bureau of Investigation has definitely established Lonsdale's background.

- His real name is Conon Molody.

- His age is 38.

- He was born in Moscow and remains a Soviet citizen.

- He came to the United States in 1933, posing as the 11-year-old son of an aunt who lived in Berkeley. He lived there until 1938, attending the then-well-known private school, not yet engaged in espionage because he was still too young.

- He returned to Russia in 1938, served in the Army and then as an espionage agent.

- In 1954 he went to Canada, obtained a birth certificate identifying him as Lonsdale, then returned to England via a U. S. port.

AT THE time of his arrest he was part of an international spy ring.

Four years ago the U. S. government arrested Soviet Col. Ivanovich Abel in New York as head of a spy apparatus in the U. S. Abel was given 30 years imprisonment. He has refused to talk.

Among Abel's possessions was data referring to Morris and Lona Cohen, two U. S. citizens, whom the FBI had investigated. However, sufficient evidence to arrest was not obtained.

The Cohens departed America.

Among the four persons arrested with Molody were "Peter, 50, and Helen, 47, Kroger," London book-sellers. The FBI last February established that the Krogers were in reality the Cohens.

IN THEIR London house they kept various pieces of spy equipment. These included a powerful radio transmitter hidden beneath a concrete slab in a secret basement at their house.

At the trial, Molody took responsibility for whatever charges the government had brought and said the Cohens were innocent. Both he and they said they had been friends, and that they allowed him to live in their home. But the court gave the Cohens 20-year sentences.

The two British civil servants were Henry F. Houghton, 55, and his fiancée, Ethel E. Gee, who received 15 years each. They made top-secret British naval secrets available to Molody.
